June 2022 Newsletter

CEO's Greetings

It was such a joy to host a real, live, in-person networking event again when the ATC crowd, the LocLunch crowd, and the Women in Localization crowd came together in London.

If you missed it, save the date for 21 September and our one-day conference Stargazing, with the ATC's Language Industry Awards Gala Dinner. Registration and Awards nominations open on 20 June!

DEFINING STANDARDS OF EXCELLENCE

21 September 2022 is the date. For the ATC's one-day conference Stargazing, focusing on sales and asking what will we be selling as language services in five years' time. And for the ATC's Language Industry Awards Gala Dinner. Registration opens on 20 June!

New Ukraine Support Links

New language support guidance from Council of Europe includes resources aimed at supporting the linguistic integration of refugees from Ukraine in public services, schools, and the workplace.

Translation, Interpreting and Language Support

ISO Interpreting Standards

There is a lot happening with ISO standards for interpreting right now. News standards are continuously coming out, and client-side organisations are becoming increasingly aware of ISO standards relating to interpreting. This is where ATC Certification can help.

Global Interns & the UK

The answer is YES. You can still have non-UK interns, even after Brexit closed previously used, free movement internship routes in the UK. The ATC's new partner BUNAC is your new UK Government-approved internship sponsor.
